

Balance, honesty, and integrity are rapidly becoming a dead or dieing thing of the past in our major media news outlets. Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is an obvious example of this sad state of affairs.

Fortunately, in many cases these major broadcasting and media outlets are on the wrong side of the law and can and must be stopped. Otherwise a dangerous precedent is established and our nation falls pray to the biased agenda of the rich and powerful seeking to maintain or increase an already unbalanced grip on wealth and power.

The recent actions of Sinclair demonstrate clearly why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process must involve a careful review of recent activities.
